'They are not recycled' PNP says 4 terrorist suspects planned, funded V-Day blast

By Dennis S. Japena

PHILIPPINE — Wrecking of churches and synagogues, the seizure of schools and the killing of innocent civilians have been the hallmarks of the Philippine Islamic militant groups since the 1970s. But in the past few years, the groups have been accused of planning and executing a series of bombings and assassinations in the Philippines, including the 1995 bombing of the Philippine National Bank (PNB) in Manila.

The PNP, the Philippine National Police, has been investigating the groups for years. In a recent report, the PNP said that the groups have been planning and executing a series of bombings and assassinations in the Philippines, including the 1995 bombing of the PNB in Manila.

GMA goes easy on death penalty

By Gil Cabanogian Jr.

PRESIDENT Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday hinted that the death penalty was unlikely to be implemented under her watch even for convicted leaders of kidnap-for-ransom gangs and drug syndicates.

"Only if absolutely required by the times," Ms Arroyo replied when asked if there was any chance that the death penalty would be implemented under her term.

The President also appears to have toned down her contempt against criminals, including kidnapers. "We were able to solve the kidnapping problem without imposing the death penalty. In fact, Tensie Ang See, I understand, is against the death penalty," said the President.

Calls for the imposition of the death penalty specifically for kidnapers were resurrected recently following the capture of alleged kidnapper, James Ray, Dennis Rodden, and the Abu Sayyaf bandits behind the Valentine's Day bombings.

The President has imposed a moratorium on the maximum penalty on criminals since she assumed power in 2001. She later modified her position by making an exception for kidnapers and drug lords in view of the rising number of kidnap-for-ransom cases and widespread drug abuse a few years ago.

No kidnapper or drug lord has so far been executed, however.

Two years ago, the President stated her policy on giving pardon by saying: "If they're not drug lords or kidnapers, and they are more than 70 years old, just recommend it to me and I assure you [I will] grant them my presidential pardon," the President said in previous statements.

The President had lamented the failure of the penal system to reform criminals, noting that some kidnap leaders and drug lords continue to run their nefarious operations even within the confines of their maximum-security cells.

"It's as if the penal system is not rehabilitating them. (But) we have to give them a lesson. And after that, maybe that's the time that we could go back to the policy of no executions," the President explained in a statement two years ago.

But with the police making inroads in its anti-kidnapping and anti-drug trafficking campaign in the past few years, the President has apparently toned down her position on the death penalty. "You know, given our conditions in jail, that is a fate worse than death if they stay forever," the President said.

Knights of Columbus to mark centenary

THIS year, the Knights of Columbus, the worldwide service-oriented civic organization of Catholic gentlemen, is marking the centenary of its establishment in the Philippines.

Hosted by the Luzon Jurisdiction led by State Deputy Rodolfo C. Mapino, the year-long celebration will be highlighted by a tri-state convention to be held at the Manila Hotel from March 13-20. Supreme Knight Carl A. Anderson is expected to attend.

A hundred years after its birth in the Philippines, the Knights of Columbus has grown into a dynamic service group spearheading activities for the betterment of the youth, family and church, and initiating community-oriented programs.

From the lone Philippine Jurisdiction, there are now Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao Jurisdictions, each headed by a state deputy.

Recently, the organization mobilized councils to channel relief operations and humanitarian aid to the families displaced by the storms that hit Eastern Luzon late last year. The project was in keeping with the organization's traditional "Keeping Christ in Christmas" program.

'Pandesa' VAT-free

IF YOU want to eat bread and not pay value-added tax at all, make sure you buy only "pandesa."

Pandesa, the common breakfast fare of most Filipinos, was the only bread product which the House of Representatives exempted from VAT.

The House worked overtime from Wednesday evening to 1 a.m. yesterday to adopt amendment to House Bill No. 3705, a measure providing for the lifting, coverage and reduction of VAT.

All bread products are currently levied a 10-percent VAT but this will soon increase to 12 percent once the 20-percent VAT increase becomes law. Car-line Public the 1990s, and the 1990s saw a significant increase in the number of people who were employed in the service sector. This was due to a number of factors, including the fact that the service sector was becoming more important in the economy, and that there was a growing demand for services. This led to a significant increase in the number of people who were employed in the service sector, and this in turn led to a significant increase in the number of people who were employed in the service sector.

Many Pinoy workers lose jobs in Saipan

SAIPAN, Northern Mariana Islands—More than 1,000 foreign workers, including Filipinos, have lost their jobs in Northern Mariana Islands clothing factories as a rise in Chinese clothing exports to the United States leads to orders being slashed for firms based in the US territory, government figures show.

The problem is expected to worsen and this week the Northern Marianas Attorney General's Office said laid-off foreign workers in the local garment industry would be repatriated to their home countries if they failed to find jobs in other factories.

The local garment industry, accused by labor activists of creating sweatshop conditions, has seen a fall in orders since global quotas for textiles expired at the beginning of this year. The removal of quotas has allowed major exporters, especially China, to increase shipments to the United States.

Ironically, most of the affected workers in the Northern Marianas are Chinese, with a large number from the Philippines also losing their jobs. The industry is centered on Saipan, the principal island in the 14-island chain which lies east of the Philippines in the northern Pacific Ocean.

Records from the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Department of Labor released Wednesday showed 1,116 of the estimated 31,000 foreign workers on the islands are jobless.

2nd Week of Lent

1st Reading: Gen 37:3-4, 12-13, 17-28

Gospel: Matthew 21:33-43, 45-46

Jesus said to the chief priests and elders, "Listen to another example: There was a landowner who planted a vineyard. He put a fence around it, dug a hole for the winepress, built a watchtower, leased the vineyard to tenants and then went to a distant country. When harvest time came, the landowner sent his servants to the tenants to collect his share of the harvest. But the tenants seized his servants, beat one, killed another and stoned another.

Again the owner sent more servants, but they were treated in the same way.

Finally, he sent his son, thinking: 'They will respect my son.' But when the tenants saw the son, they thought: 'This is the one who is to inherit the vineyard. Let us kill him and his inheritance will be ours.' So they seized him, threw him out of the vineyard and killed him.

Now, what will the owner of the vineyard do with the tenants when he comes?" They said to him, "He will bring those evil to an evil end, and lease the vineyard to others who will pay him in due time."

And Jesus replied, "Have you never read what the Scriptures say? The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone. This was the Lord's doing; and we marvel at it. Therefore I say to you: the kingdom of heaven will be taken from you and given to people who will yield a harvest.

When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard these parables, they realized that Jesus was referring to them. They would have arrested him, but they were afraid of the crowd who regarded him as a prophet.

Commentary

Joseph is best loved of his brothers and they in jealousy and rage, plot to kill him and throw him in a well, then sell him to traders because of Ruben's pleading not to kill him. Our ancestors are just like us. We are people of intrigue, hate, jealousy, anger and murder. And Jesus reminds the people around him with the parable of the tenants who have been entrusted with a vineyard but they take the wine and then refuse to give what is due the vineyard owner. Again and again when servants are sent (prophets) to demand justice, they are seized, treated harshly and killed. Then the son is sent and they kill him. But the time of judgment will come. Jesus will be rejected. He was rejected. He is still rejected by nations and many who claim to be his followers (tenants) but justice will be done and the harvest will be reaped by those who hear the Word of God and take it to heart. Lord Jesus, let us be the ones who honor your Word, your kingdom and your will in the world and do not let us be the ones judged justly. Amen.

US execs tagged 'undesirable aliens'

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — The United States government has ordered the deportation of 100 American executives and managers of foreign companies who are considered "undesirable aliens" because of their alleged involvement in the Vietnam War.

The order, issued by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, is the first of its kind since the Vietnam War. It is based on a list of names compiled by the State Department, which has been working to identify and deport "undesirable aliens" since the war.

The list includes names of executives and managers of foreign companies who are considered "undesirable aliens" because of their alleged involvement in the Vietnam War. The list also includes names of executives and managers of foreign companies who are considered "undesirable aliens" because of their alleged involvement in the Vietnam War.

Correllera found with a agenda for new ruling

MANILA, March 10 (AP) — A report from a source close to the administration of President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. has revealed that a new agenda for the ruling party has been developed.

The report, which was obtained by a local newspaper, states that the new agenda is being developed by a group of officials within the administration. The group is reportedly working to develop a new agenda for the ruling party, which is expected to be implemented in the near future.

The new agenda is said to focus on economic development, social justice, and national security. It is also expected to include provisions for the protection of human rights and the promotion of democratic values.

Acetylene gang hijack arrested

MANILA, March 10 (AP) — A group of men, known as the "Acetylene Gang," who were involved in a series of hijackings, have been arrested by police.

The group, which was active in the Manila area, was reportedly involved in a series of hijackings of buses and trucks. The police have been working to track down the group for some time.

The arrest of the group is a significant development in the fight against hijacking in the Philippines. It is hoped that the arrest will lead to the identification and prosecution of the individuals involved in the hijackings.

Mati teachers protest 'love bonus' deduction

Two teachers from the Mati district in the Philippines have filed a complaint with the Department of Education (DepEd) Division Office (DDO) in Manila, claiming that the DepEd is deducting a portion of their salaries for a "love bonus" deduction.

The teachers, who are both female, are currently employed by the DepEd Division Office in Manila. They claim that the DepEd is deducting a portion of their salaries for a "love bonus" deduction, which they say is not a legitimate deduction.

By Christine E. Reyes

Quedancor, a private equity-backed investment firm, has received approval from the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) to raise up to P1.5 billion in new capital. The approval, granted on May 10, allows the firm to increase its authorized capital from P500 million to P1.5 billion. Quedancor, which was established in 1992, is a subsidiary of the Quia Group, a major player in the Philippine real estate and construction sectors. The firm's primary focus is on investing in and managing real estate projects across the country. The BSP's approval is a significant milestone for Quedancor, as it enables the firm to pursue larger-scale investment opportunities and expand its portfolio of properties. The firm has expressed its intention to use the additional capital to fund the development of new real estate projects and to strengthen its financial position. The approval is subject to certain conditions, including the requirement that the firm maintain adequate capital adequacy ratios and comply with all applicable regulations. Quedancor's management team has indicated that they are confident in their ability to meet these requirements and to effectively manage the increased capital. The firm's success in securing this approval reflects its strong financial performance and its commitment to transparency and regulatory compliance.

Motorola to come out with low-cost handsets

By Christine E. Reyes

Motorola Inc. is set to launch a new line of low-cost mobile phones in the Philippines, targeting the mass market. The company, known for its high-end mobile devices, is making a strategic move to penetrate the lower-income segments of the market. The new handsets are expected to offer basic features such as voice calls, text messaging, and simple navigation, while maintaining a competitive price point. Motorola's entry into the low-cost segment is a response to the growing demand for affordable mobile communication in emerging markets. The company has invested in local manufacturing and distribution networks to ensure that the handsets are readily available to consumers. Motorola's management believes that this move will significantly increase its market share in the Philippines and provide a valuable service to a large portion of the population. The launch of these low-cost handsets is part of Motorola's broader global strategy to expand its reach and provide mobile connectivity to underserved markets.

The new handsets are expected to be available in various colors and designs to appeal to different consumer preferences. Motorola has also announced plans to offer financing options for the handsets, making them even more accessible to potential buyers. The company is confident that these low-cost handsets will become a popular choice among Filipino consumers, particularly in rural areas and among the urban poor. Motorola's commitment to providing affordable mobile solutions is a key factor in its success in emerging markets. The launch of these handsets is a testament to the company's dedication to innovation and its commitment to serving a diverse range of customers.

One quiet presence

While you might assume that the most common cause of a bad attitude is a bad attitude, it's not always true. In fact, a bad attitude can be a symptom of a deeper problem. For example, a bad attitude can be a sign of a mental health issue, such as depression or anxiety. It can also be a sign of a physical health issue, such as a chronic pain condition or a hormonal imbalance. If you're experiencing a bad attitude, it's important to talk to your doctor to rule out any underlying medical conditions.

So had some people's previous beliefs concerning the link between the use of plastic film (Teglar and Mylar) and the environment. They are now a lot more likely to buy biodegradable film and to be concerned about the impact the materials have on the environment when they are used in plastic mulch applications.

Second, I am not sure whether or not the professor can claim to be an expert.

Using a range of methods, including interviews, focus groups, and surveys, the researchers identified a number of factors that influence the adoption of mobile health technologies. These factors include the perceived benefits of the technology, the ease of use, the availability of training, and the support of healthcare providers.

the 1990s, the number of people who have been infected with HIV has increased significantly. In 1990, there were about 1 million people living with HIV in the United States. By 2000, that number had risen to about 4 million. And in 2008, it was estimated that there were about 12 million people living with HIV in the United States. This increase in the number of people living with HIV is due to a number of factors, including the fact that HIV is now a chronic condition that can be managed with medication, and the fact that there are now more people who are aware of the risks of HIV and are taking steps to protect themselves.

And he was, in fact, the Queen in a military uniform—Queen Victoria.

"After World War II, on the one hand, we're looking at the 'Queen Victoria' model. 'What we need is a ruler, like the Queen Victoria model,' says Gerson. 'On the other hand, there's a sense that it's untenable and the government is crumbling.'"

The anxiety makes Phipps' suggestion all the more of an antidote. "It's the only way to fix this. The only way to fix this is to get a strong leader back," he says. "The only way to fix this is to get a strong leader back."

As Larry, the writer argues, America's political and economic system is not the best one to produce the most progress for the world's poor. But he also says that the United States is the only country that has the resources to help the world's poor.

There is a large number of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world, and who are interested in the study of the history of the world.

U.S. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government can't force states to fund private health care programs. This decision could lead to more state-level funding cuts for Medicaid and other social services.

Following a review of the literature, a number of hypotheses were formulated and tested using data from a survey of 100 managers in the UK.

Thompson said that a few witnesses had said that they saw a man in a dark suit, dark hair, and a mustache, who was walking away from the scene. Thompson said that he did not see the man.

As the distribution of the data is skewed, the mean is not a good measure of central tendency. The median is a better measure of central tendency for skewed data.

1. Topic: The role of the state in the economy.
 2. Question: What are the main arguments for and against state intervention in the economy?
 3. Answer: The main arguments for state intervention are that it can correct market failures, provide public goods, and redistribute income. The main arguments against state intervention are that it is inefficient, creates bureaucracy, and interferes with individual freedom.

These authors also suggest that the use of a single, standard, questionnaire is not sufficient to assess the prevalence of mental health problems in the community. They argue that the use of a range of different methods, including interviews, focus groups, and self-reporting, may be more effective in identifying mental health problems in the community. When a person has a good idea, they should not be afraid to share it. The best ideas often come from the people who are closest to the problem.

These findings call into question the use of the current model of the relationship between the two variables. The authors suggest that the relationship between the two variables is more complex than the current model suggests. Dealing with a 'sticky' situation

THAT'S A good question, because it's not always clear how much to do on the monetary side. Making a decision during the early stages of a recession is like forecasting.

What if the central managers were also corporate controllers? In that case, I would use a portfolio of very narrow and uncorrelated funds I'd already set up. I wouldn't want to see a portfolio of funds that are too similar. I'd like to see a portfolio that is diversified in the industries that are where the losses are occurring, across funds.

Going to smaller funds is one alternative. I don't know if that's a good idea.

Are IFRS considerations of the sort you're talking on very present?

Yes, but not as much as you might think. IFRS is not as big as GAAP. Withholding until after the year ends, before they start talking about how they should follow the guidelines, means that IFRS is not as much of a factor as you might think.
